About WiP

The Association of Women in Property (WiP) was formed in 1987 when two professional women working in the property sector agreed that something needed to be done to improve networking and support for the industry's women. Over 30 years on we believe there is still a role for the Association as women still only represent 15% of the property and construction industry workforce.

While networking and personal development remain very much the core of the Association, WiP is also a champion for girls and young women considering a career in property, for those seeking mentoring support throughout their careers and for those wishing to elevate their career path into the Board room and beyond. WiP is a unique organisation as the members cover all disciplines within the property and construction sectors.

Benefits of membership, which are personal to you and a business benefit for your employer, include:

- Meeting other women within the property and construction industry.
- Personal development through attendance of seminars and site visits.
- Opportunity to speak at, or host, events therefore raising your profile and that of your employer.
- Opportunity to gain 'board' experience through joining your branch committee with accompanying profile raising for both you and your employer.
- Involvement in mentoring, as mentor or mentee. Our mentoring programme is free to all members and begins with training. Mentoring is an enriching and fulfilling experience for both mentor and mentee, a two-way learning partnership.
- Access to the online members' directory.
- Opportunity to contribute to the national newsletter or the WiP blog on our website, or join our group on LinkedIn – more profile raising both for you and your employer.
- Regular Twitter traffic, co-promoting our members and their employers.

Membership runs from the month of joining and the current annual membership fee is £135. To obtain further details on Women in Property and a membership form please visit <http://www.womeninproperty.org.uk/non-members/how-to-join/>
